Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

JUDGE MILLER DEAD

Last Hours of the Distinguished Jurist.

SOME CHARACTERISTIC TRAITS.

His Untiring Industry and Sterling Integrity—A Self Made Man. Twenty-eight Years on the Bench. Gen. Belknap's Sudden Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Associate Justice Miller, of the United States supreme court, who was stricken with paralysis several days ago, and whose death was looked for hourly since the time of his prostration by the fatal stroke, died last night a few minutes before 11 o'clock.

Justice Miller was stricken with paralysis last Friday afternoon, while walking from a Massachusetts street car to his house on Thomas circle. He fell down on his face, and when picked up and carried into his house was unconscious. He soon regained intelligence and appeared quite cheerful, but at no time was much hope of his recovery entertained.

Samuel Freeman Miller was born in Richmond, Ky., April 5, 1816. He graduated at the medical department of the Transylvania university in Kentucky in 1838, and practiced medicine for a few years, but afterwards became a lawyer.

In 1850 Judge Miller removed to Iowa, where he became prominent among Republicans in that state. In 1862 President Lincoln appointed him associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He was at the time of his death the oldest justice in continuous service on the court bench.

A Hard Worker.

The paralytic stroke of Justice Miller was a surprise to every one in Washington. His constitution has, apparently, been one of iron, and he has for years worked more than twelve hours out of the twenty-four. It was his habit to go into his office, at his home on Massachusetts avenue, as soon as he had finished his breakfast in the morning, and to work there upon his cases until the supreme court met at noon. During his whole career as a supreme court justice he missed scarcely a day in attendance upon the supreme court when it was sitting, and he worked far into the night writing his opinions and passing upon cases after his return from the Capitol.

There has been no judge on the bench for years who has done more work than Justice Miller, and he was one of the best equipped men of the corps of justices. He was a self educated man, and he never had the advantage of college training.

Self Educated.

He started life as a drug clerk and spent three years in making up prescriptions. He then went to a medical school in Kentucky and practiced medicine after he had gotten his diploma, for eight years. When he began to study law he took up the study of Latin and acquired a thorough knowledge of the language.

Justice Miller has always been a strong Republican. He made his first political speeches when he began to study law and he was an ardent follower of Henry Clay.

During his long career of twenty-eight years on the bench, there has never been a whisper of scandal concerning him. He has never speculated upon his information received as a justice of the supreme court, and though he has received more than $250,000 in salaries from Uncle Sam, he has not worked the machine at both ends and made a fortune out of it.

The Funeral.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The arrangements for the funeral of Justice Miller were completed last night. The funeral services will take place in the supreme court room at the Capitol between 2 and 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Rev. Dr. Shippen, of this city, will conduct the service and Rev. Dr. Bartlett will deliver the address.

The remains will be taken from the court room to the Pennsylvania depot, thence to Keokuk, Ia. The justices of the supreme court will act as pall bearers and will accompany the remains to Keokuk. The train will leave here at 7:40 p. m. on Thursday and will reach Keokuk Saturday morning about 10 o'clock.

GEN. BELKNAP DEAD.

The Remarkable Record of President Grant's Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The autopsy has disclosed that the death of Gen. W. W. Belknap, who was found dead in bed yesterday, was due to inflammation of the inner lining of the heart.

Mrs. Belknap, who has been at Newport and other eastern seaside resorts during the summer months, but in New York city during the last few weeks, was summoned by telegraph, and also the general's son Hugh, from his home in Chicago, where he is employed in the office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company.

William Worth Belknap was born in Newburg, N. Y., on Sept. 27, 1829. He graduated at Princeton in 1846. He then studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Keokuk, Ia. When the war broke out he joined the army as major of the Fifteenth Iowa volunteers. He was engaged at Shiloh, Corinth and Vicksburg, where he did good service, and also attracted attention to himself by his services in Sherman's Atlanta campaign. In July, 1864, he was promoted to be brigadier general, and in March, 1865, he received a brevet as major general and was put in command of a division.

At the conclusion of the war he was appointed collector of internal revenue in Iowa, a position which he held until October, 1869, when he entered Gen. Grant's cabinet as secretary of war. This office he held during Grant's second administration until March 7, 1876, when he resigned in consequence of the charges of corruption which made his name notorious. He was impeached and tried before the senate, the specific accusation being that he promised to appoint Caleb P. Marsh to maintain a trading establishment at Fort Sill, a military post of the United States, on consideration of a certain sum of money to be paid quarterly.

The testimony was of the most conclusive description, and the accused could only avoid conviction by pleading that his resignation before impeachment had left the senate without jurisdiction. On this technical plea he escaped, the vote being 35 to 25 against him and a two-thirds vote being necessary to absolute conviction.

The later years of his life were passed in Washington, where he had a good law practice and lived very quietly, retaining a number of faithful friends to the end.

Gen. Belknap's Funeral.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The arrangements for the funeral of Gen. Belknap are not yet completed. It has been decided, however, that the funeral will take place from St. John's church, in this city, and that the general will be buried at Arlington.

The treasury department has decided that books imported for the use of colleges, schools, etc., are admitted to this country under the new law substantially as they were admitted under the old tariff law and subject to the same restrictions.

THE RAILROADS.

An attempt was made a few days ago to wreck the Erie and Wyoming train near Pittston. The obstructions were seen by the engineer in time.

James March had a writ of attachment for $35,000 issued against the South Mountain Railroad company. Sheriff Miller will make levies in Dauphin, Lebanon, Berks, Lehigh and Northampton counties.

John Donley, of Philadelphia, an employe in the train service of the Pennsylvania railroad, was instantly killed near Mountville station. He fell from his train and was run over. His head was completely severed from his body.

David McElroy, a section hand on the Baltimore and Ohio road, was killed at Hogsett's cut, a mile north of Uniontown. Five men were on a handcar and were run into by an engine. Four of the men jumped off when they heard the engine whistle for the cut, but McElroy stayed on the car and was fatally injured. He was 50 years old and unmarried.

A woman was struck by a south bound express train below the tunnel at North Wales. The engineer saw her walking towards the train. He applied the air brakes, but not in time to save the woman's life. One limb of the woman was broken and she was injured internally. She was picked up by the crew and taken to the Pennsylvania hospital, where she died.

Nolan Bros., of Reading, contractors for the masonry on the Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburg railroad, generally known as the Harrisburg Terminal, completed the mason work on the road, from its connection with the Paxton creek bridge to the crossing over the Northern Central railroad, on the west bank of the Susquehanna river. This is two days ahead of the contract time. The distance is 6,100 feet. The bridge across the river is 3,450 feet long, being comprised of twenty-three spans of 150 feet each.

Explosion of Mine Gas.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 15.—Four men were severely burned by an explosion of gas in No. 4 slope of the Susquehanna Coal company, at Nanticoke, yesterday. The concussion was very severe and the timbering in the mine were shattered to pieces. Nathan Nash, David Powell and two Polanders were the injured persons.

Ended the Struggle.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Andrew Dunn, of Nanticoke, told her sister she was tired of struggling for an existence in this world and she intended to end it. An hour later she swallowed an ounce of muriatic acid, from which she died after a few hours in terrible agony.

EASTWARD BOUND.

The President Returns from the West

LEAVING A TRAIL OF ELOQUENCE.

In Mansfield He Lands Senator Sherman and in Canton Commends Maj. McKinley—At Alliance He Confesses That He Is Tired of Speech Making—Termination of the Tour.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The president and party arrived here at about 9 o'clock this morning.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—The time of arrival of the president's party was not generally understood by the citizens of Pittsburg, and there were but few people upon the depot platform when the special train arrived last night.

The representatives of the city papers were accorded a brief interview. The president looked somewhat wearied and remarked concerning the remarkable October weather. He had made thirteen speeches during the day and upon reaching Washington will have traveled over 3,000 miles. With one exception the president has slept on his car every night since leaving Washington. The president made special inquiry for the latest bulletin concerning Justice Miller's condition.

The president's train left for Washington via the Pennsylvania railroad at 8:45 o'clock. There was no speech making or demonstration of any kind while the train was in this city.

Tributes to Sherman and McKinley.

In the course of the president's speech at Mansfield, O., he paid the following tribute to Senator Sherman:

I am glad to be permitted to stop at the home of your distinguished senator and my friend. I am sure, however you may differ from him in political opinion, the people of Mansfield and of Ohio are proud of the eminence which he has attained in the councils of the nation and of the distinguished service which he has been able to render to his country, not only in congress but in the treasury. He is twin in greatness with that military brother who led some of you, as he did me, in some of the great campaigns of the war. And they have together rendered conspicuous service to this country which we as they love with devoted affection. (Applause.)

At Canton, O., the president said:

I am glad to be at the home of one with whom I have been associated in congressional duties for a number of years, and who in all personal relations with you, his neighbors, has won my regard as I am sure he has won yours. Without any regard to what you may think of the McKinley bill, I am sure you are all the appreciative neighbors and friends of Maj. William McKinley. Kind hearted, generous and full of chivalrous courtesy to his opponents, I am sure he has not failed to win your respect and that Canton is proud of him as a citizen.

Getting Tired of Speaking.

Alliance was the next station. The crowd here, too, was very large and enthusiastic. The president was introduced by Hon. Daniel Fording. He said:

My fellow citizens: There is nothing in which the American people are harder upon their public servants than in the insatiable demand they make for public speeches. I began talking before breakfast this morning and have been kept almost continuously at it through the day with scarcely time for lunch; and yet as long as the smallest residuum of strength is left I cannot fail to recognize these hearty greetings and to say some appreciative word in return. I do very much thank you, and I do very deeply feel the cordial enthusiasm with which you have received me.

At Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13. — President Harrison reached this city at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, after an uneventful run from St. Louis.

The president attended divine service at the First Presbyterian church and then took luncheon with Secretary Tracy at the Denison house, where he remained for three hours and received calls from many people who came to pay their respects. In the afternoon the president and secretary took a drive about the city, and after supper at the residence of his son-in-law, the presidential party returned to their special car, departing for the east at 6 o'clock this morning.

A Quarrel Over the Count.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—A meeting of French citizens was held in the mayor's office for the purpose of arranging a reception and banquet to the Comte de Paris on his arrival. The Legitimists were there in force, but the Republicans protested against the city's taking any official notice of the visit of the count, and threatened to get up a counter Republican demonstration if it did. Finally a committee, comprising the mayor, alderman, chief justices, judges and others were appointed to meet the count at the depot and escort him to the hotel and tender him a banquet and reception. The Republicans moved an amendment that was lost.

The Engineers' Convention.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.—Every train arriving in Pittsburg yesterday brought delegates to the twenty-seventh annual international convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which opened here today. Four hundred and twenty-seven delegates are present and over 300 engineers have notified the committee of arrangements that they will attend the convention in an unofficial capacity, which will make altogether over 700 knights who will be gathered in Pittsburg at one time. Chauncey M. Depew will address the convention to-morrow.

The Ohio Muddle.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15.—Late yesterday afternoon two bills were introduced in the senate which are intended to carry out the policy of those who wish to kill the board of public improvements. A motion to suspend the rules and read both bills the third time brought on a brisk fight, but failed to pass by a strict party vote. The roll call showed four Democrats voting with the Republicans, however, which indicates that in the senate, at least, they are not united in opinion as the best manner in which to settle the muddle.

Voorhees Talks to the Farmers.

PERU, Ind., Oct. 15.—A crowd numbering many thousands was here yesterday to hear Senator Daniel W. Voorhees speak. He arrive at noon, and an hour afterward delivered a stirring address on the questions of the day. The farmers were present in great numbers, and to them the speaker addressed many of his remarks.

Prices on the Stock, Produce and Petroleum Exchanges.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—The market was unsettled. Pennsylvania was dull and steady. Reading declined, and there was some selling of the preferred income bonds.

Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. holds its twenty-third annual convention at Danville Oct. 25 to 26.

Owing to heavy business, the 900 employes of the Reading car shops will work five hours overtime three days each week.

Frederick D. Keighley, mine inspector of the Uniontown district, has resigned, and will be succeeded by William Duncrn, of Buena Vista.

John Blake has been arrested on the charge of having robbed the residence of Mr. Herbert Cox, in West Whiteland, Chester county.

Eben Clinton Hess, ex-deputy warden of the Northampton county prison, died suddenly at his home in Upper Mt. Bethel, of apoplexy, aged 49.

Monday night's heavy rains wrought great damage at Mansfield valley and Oakland station, flooding cellars and sweeping away building material.

There is a feud between the Moss and Evans families, of Evans Falls, a small settlement in Luzerne county, over the use of a bridle path. Bloodshed is threatened.

The humane agent at McKeesport found a sick woman, wife of the Hebrew bigamist Zwerine, in the workhouse, and three children lying in a shanty boat, who had nothing to eat for four days.

The strike of the plush silk weavers at the Unicorn Silk mill, Catasauqua, ended in a compromise, and all but three of the strikers returned to work. These three started the strike, and will leave for England.

While watching the workmen at one of his oil wells performing some labor James McIlhaney, a well known oil producer of Butler, was instantly killed by a board falling from the top of the oil well derrick.

There is trouble in the American Protestant Association of Pennsylvania over the change of the name at the Wilkesbarre convention to "The Loyal Knights of America." Eastern members will form a new organization.

In an affray at an unlicensed liquor saloon, or "speak easy," in Allegheny City, John Bothwell was stabbed to death by William Flinn, a late arrival from Louisville. The affray was caused by a dispute over a woman. Flinn is in jail.

Ex-Senator Lewis Emery, Jr., telegraphed The Pittsburg Times that the names published as those of X, Y and Z were correct. They are: X, ex-State Senator Homer J. Humes; Y, ex-Representative L. E. Beach, and Z, Robert Odell, now a reporter in Milwaukee, Wis.

At Pittsburg a big cut is being made in the price of glass jars. The jobbers are buying at from 15 to 20 per cent. under the list and are reaping a harvest. The Manufacturers' association has split and every manufacturer is selling for almost any price he can get.

While engaged in one of the mills of the Mt. Holly Paper company, at Mt. Holly Springs, six miles south of Carlisle, Theodore Sweigert, aged 41 years, was caught by a fly wheel and instantly killed. His body was mangled terribly. A wife and four small children survive him.

The large four story grist mill of E. Stauffer, operated by Aldus Groff, near Chestnut Level, Lancaster county, was completely destroyed by fire. The contents, consisting of several thousand bushels of grain and chop stuff, were all consumed. Loss, $20,000; insurance, $4,000. The fire was caused by friction.

The miners at the Snodgrass mines, up the Monongahela river, are out on strike. The cause of the trouble is that the firm discharged a blacksmith, whereupon the miners all quit. The miners demand the reinstatement of the discharged man, but up to this time the operators have firmly refused to concede the demand.

The building 967 Liberty street, Pittsburg, occupied by D. J. Rox, box manufactory; Dean & Neibaum, flour merchants, and several other firms, was damaged by fire and water Friday night to the extent of about $15,000. The loss is divided between the different occupants and is covered by insurance. Chief Evans and two firemen were injured at the fire.

Two Hungarians got into a quarrel at Chapman borough over a watch which one had stolen from the other. A fight followed, during which the alleged thief was pounced upon by three Huns, and, besides being beaten unmercifully with fists, was hacked in several places with a hatchet. He is now at St. Luke's hospital, and it is feared he will die from his injuries. Two Huns got into a fight in Bethlehem, during which one cut a frightful gash in the other's head with a shovel. The injured man is in the hospital.

Flora Malloy, a beautiful 2½-year-old girl, was found pinioned down by a fallen tree at the base of a large rock, one and a half miles north of Hazleton. The manner in which she was fastened and the utter absence of rents in her clothing or scratches on her body or limbs confirms the suspicion that she was stolen, kept secreted until Sunday and put in the place where she was found. The child died Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The mother's condition is serious and it is feared that her reason will be dethroned.

In the United Brethren conference at Mountville the committee on grievances reported that Rve. Z. C. Mower had, after due consideration, been found guilty of "immorality and fraudulent transactions," and recommended his expulsion from the conference and church; also, that Rev. P. H. Garrett was found guilty of conduct unbecoming a Christian minister, and recommended his expulsion. Both recommendations were adopted. H. T. McNally was granted a license to preach. J. A. Syter, J. F. Smith and U. S. G. Renn, having finished the three years course of reading, were passed and referred to the committee on ordination. The committee on boundaries reported, making a number of changes in the circuits.

The contest between the heirs of Thomas Lazarus, late of Hanover township, was decided by Judge Rhone, who handed down a voluminous opinion. The case involves more money than any similar action ever brought before the orphans' court of Luzerne county—no less a figure, indeed, than $1,250,000. It has for a long time been discussed by prominent attorneys of this section, not less on account of the great amount involved than because some very important legal points are at issue regarding coal leases.

A serious freight wreck occurred at Cresson Saturday in which a brakeman named Fee was instantly killed. A number of cars were piled up and the four tracks were blocked for several hours. The wreck was caused by a west bound train crossing from one track to another. Another west bound train crashed into it. At the same time all cars loaded freight came crashing along and piled into the first named trains. About fifteen cars were knocked into kindling wood. Passenger traffic was considerably delayed in consequence.

The corning mill of the large Dupont powder works at Wapwallopen, seven miles below Shickshinny, was exploded with terrific force from some unknown cause. The explosion took place before the employes had assembled for work. Three men engaged at the magazine, who were near by when it occurred, were burned. The force of the explosion was distinctly felt over an area of eight miles. Houses shook until the windows fell out, while large trees in the vicinity of the mills were torn from their roots and carried clear across the river.

James M. Dougherty, the insane lover of Mary Anderson, who murdered Dr. Lloyd at the Kings county lunatic asylum, New York, was four years ago a telegraph operator at Dundaff, a summer resort in Susquehanna county, six miles from Carbondale. While there he claimed that Dougherty was but an assumed name, he coming east from Nevada, where he said he was interested with Mackay in silver mining operations, in order to get a quiet place where he could perfect a perpetual motor on which he was working. He contributed many articles on this sc

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1890.

Charles S. Wolfe of Lewisburg is on the stump for Pattison.

Willie Sprague, son of the "war governor" William Sprague, of Rhode Island, committed suicide recently at Seattle, by taking chloroform. His mother was Kate Chase, daughter of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase.

Ex-Senator William A. Wallace has returned from Europe, and made a speech at the Philadelphia Academy of Music last Saturday night for Pattison and the whole ticket. This will close the mouths of those republican papers that have been so loud of late in insisting that Wallace was not for Pattison. William A. Wallace is a democrat and he always does his full duty to his party.

Special Washington Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., October 15th, —Quay's leadership of the Republican party in a National sense is at an end. It is true that he still is the official head of the National Republican Committee; but he is only so because the managers of that party do not think it policy to drop him at a time when the force of such action would be reflected in the elections to come off in November. As a political factor in National affairs Quay no longer has power or influence. He is shut off at the White House and the distrust of the Senators is such that in that body which condones crime and boodleism when not too gross in its character, do not care to longer have it assumed that Quay is influential.

The determination to drop Quay is not recent. It has been contemplated and discussed by members of the official family of the President and the party members in both Houses of Congress. The selection of his successor has practically been made, namely, ex-First Assistant Postmaster-General Clarkson the official and unscrupulous headsman, who has until lately been associated with the pious Mr. Wanamaker. Clarkson's lack of scruples is well understood, while at the same time he has not received so much notoriety as boodler and briber as either Quay or Dudley. Clarkson is not precisely the first choice of all the Republican leaders, many of whom believe he is more cautious than is necessary, but the President preferred Clarkson, and out of respect to his wishes the place has been conceded to the late executioner. The change will not be made until after the November Elections, but the administration of affairs are already in Clarkson's hands. It will be remembered that he was assigned to the duty of advising the Republican Congressional Committee as the representative of the National Committe. These Congressional elections are the only elections of consequence from a National point of views an in which the National Committee has any interest. It is, therefore, readily understood that Clarkson is really the man in achrge. It will be but a step from there to the head of the Republican National Committee, Quay requiring in January.

The address of the Lincoln Independent Republican Association of Philadelphia last week, requestting the President to with-draw all the patronage from Senator Quay, was part of an organized scheme to call attention to the fact that the patronage had already been withdrawn, and to open the eyes of the Republicans to the real situation. Quay has not secured a Federal appointment of any consequence for months, except when aided by the additional recommendation of Senator Cameron or some Republican member of the House. With Clarkson out of the Post-Office Depaetment and Whitefield as First Assistant Postmaster-General, there will be very cold comfort for Senator Quay in the branch of the Goverment service. Whitefield is a creature of Senator Sherman, and no one in the Senate is more anxious for Quay's downfall than the Ohio statesman. Whitefield will tie the hands of the late boss of Pennsylvania so far as the minor patronage of Post-Office Department is concerned, and the people who are supporting Delamater in the hope of future political reward at the hands of Quay are investing in a lottery where all the prizes will be blanks.

As an illustration of this Quay was promised large contributions from the friends of "Bertie" Adams, ex-Minister to Brazil, if he could secure the appointment of a successor to be selected by Adams' friends. Adams, when Minister, got into a bad scrape at Rio Janeiro. He did not dare to return, but wanted it to appear that his retirement was voluntary. He thought this impression could be made on the public mind if he could be allowed to name his own successor. It was under these circumstances that a deal was proposed to Senator Quay. In short, if Adams, through Quay's influence, could dictate the nomination of a new Minister to Brazil, the campaign fund for Delamater was to be swelled by considerable contributions from the ex-Minister's wealthy associates. Quay was self-confident enough to believe that he could work the State Department into letting the deal go through. His confidence to a degree, was based on the fact that to Pennsylvania really belonged the appointment. When the matter was presented to the President and Secretary Blaine, Quay was coldly advised that another choice had been made, and that he need not further trouble himself about that vacancy or any other. He then asked that the appointment be not made until after the November elections. Almost on the heels of this came the nomination of Hon. Edward H. Conger, of Iowa, with such promptness as to show the desire of the Administration to convince Mr. Quay that he was no longer in it.

Quay is dead politically, and the Republicans who are following his leadership will be disappointed if they expect any reward from their boss in the future. He no longer has any power or influence. B. R. W.

DELAMATER AND RUTAN.

DELAMATER'S SPEECH AND RUTAN'S DEFIANT ANSWER.

The pungent letter from Senator Rutan in answer to a reflection upon Rutan in Delamater's Bradford speech is the most important developement of the campaign. In order that the issue between them can be fully understood we give the full portion of Delamater's speech that aroused Rutan, with Rutan's answer, as follows:

From Delamater's Bradford speech.

Furthermore, another lie I want to nail. This man—shall I name him?—who lives in McKean county, here in Bradford, has charged that up till within two days of the final vote on the Billingsley bill in the Senate, Senator Delamater was doubtful as to what he wanted to do, as to how he would vote upon it. Really this distinguished Senator from McKean expected his support for it, and, suddenly, within forty-eight hours of the final vote, Delamater changed his mind and opposed it, and he has had the gall and the face to lie and say Delamater received $65,000 therefore.

I brand the whole of it as a lie, venomous and dastardly. Let me prove it! I can bring every member of the Senate, I don't care whether he be a Democrat or a Republican, except two—one your representative in the Senate (Emery), whom no man ought to believe (hisses and cheers); another, the man who wrote that letter (Rutan), whom I want to say, in all kindness, is not responsible for what he says, which gave the only basis for any charge about $65,000, I can prove it by every one of them, except two; I can prove it by your chairman here, who was there with friends endeavoring to induce me to change my mind and support the bill. I want to say that there are forty-eight members of the Senate who will prove to you that from the first I was opposed to the bill, and I want to tell you why.

SENATOR RUTAN'S ANSWER.

To the Editor of The Times.

Senator Delamater is reported as stating at Bradford last night that I am not responsible for the statements contained in my letter to Colonel Dick His statement is false, as he well knows. I am responsible in every way for the words contained in that letter. Every line and word written is true and I challenge him to put me to the proof. The letter, though confidential, bears evidence of honesty and good sense and therefore needs no explanation.

I served with Delamater's father in the Senate for three years, and, as every one knew, he paid thirty thousand dollars for his seat in order to defeat George K. Anderson. I was Speaker of the Senate during his term and as every member of the Senate knows, always cast the mantle of charity over his weaknes. His son has the effrontery now to ask charity for me well knowing how easily and completely I can pierce his armor.

I have his own letters to prove that he is a demagogue, a fulsifier and the holder of stolen goods. I sincerely hope he will prosecute me for libel in order to enable me to justify myself. His organised body of liars and thieves cannot in the end shield him from the punishment he so richly invites. My thirty years' service for his maker will not prevent me from telling the whole truth, now that he has forced the way.

Washington, October 10.

Ruined by the Tariff.

SALEM, N. J., October 10.—Canning factories throughout Salem county have closed for this year after one of the most successful seasons ever known. The pack of tomatoes throughout the county will aggregate 12,000,000 cans. The cause of the closing of the factories at this early day is on account of the tariff. The packers have run out of cans and the increased price of tin makes the cans nearly double their former price, and, consequently, the factories were compelled to close. Hundreds of tons of tomatoes were left to rot in the fields.

Cost of a Judicial Contest.

LYCOMING COUNTY TO PAY $14,616.92, WHICH IS LESS THAN WAS EXPECTED.

WILLIAMSPORT, OCT. 11.—The closing act in the Judicial contest in this county was enacted to-day by the filing of an opinion by the three judges fixing the costs of the proceedings.

The total bill foots up $14,616.92, which is not much more than half what had been expected. Many of the bills were materially reduced by the Court. The two examiners, Meredith and Cummings, were allowed $1250 each. About $1000 was taken off the accounts of the two stenographers.

The Court, in conclusion, rules that as there was probable cause for the action, that the expenses of the entire proceeding shall be borne in full by Lycoming County. The three judges will receive about $7000, which will be paid by the State.

RANDALL ON THE TARIFF.

From remarks of Mr. Buckalew in the House of Representatives, June 14, 1890.

Undoubtedly the greatest trial of Mr. Randall's courage, fortitude, and power of will was in the Fiftieth Congress, when he was called upon by imperative necessity to readjust his position upon the Tariff question, or to adapt it to new conditions, political and financial; and what he then said and did under circumstances of great difficulty is liable to misinterpretation. It was a question upon which he was conservative opposed to violent charges—and certainly as much opposed to such changes in cressing duties as in reducing them. Although at that time to stand still was impossible under the pressure of a surplus, he shrank from that disturbance of existing interests which was implied in radical reduction; and the same conservative spirit would have caused him to oppose any general increase of duties designed to reduce revenue. He, therefore, voted against the Mills Bill of 1888, and would have voted against the more recent McKinley Bill if it had then been proposed. This sufficiently appears from his Tariff bill and speech of 1888, and from his other speeches, Congressional and popular, made prior to that time He made no pretension to profound knowledge of political economy or the laws of pretention and trade, but he commenced public life thirty years ago with a predilection for the Whig doctrine of protection as defined and limited by its authors sixty years ago and this predilection appeared in sundry efforts made by him in later years, not only in Congress, but in certain State and National conventions of his party; but I do not understand that he ever adopted or gave countenance to the comparatively modern doctrine of prohibitory duties, or duties to exclude the importation of foreign goods. In fact his declarations against a policy to that end are somewhat numerous, and were no doubt perfectly sincere.

To judge the action of a public man upon any signal occasion, we must take into account his personal relations and the circumstances of the time. Upon the question of import duties Mr. Randall had been subjected to the antagonism of rivals for party and public favor, the recollection of which in 1888 lingered in men's minds,—Morrison Bills in the House and platform-making in political conventions had assigned to him a position peculiar and conspicious, which he did not feel free to disregard; and besides, as a leader of his party, devoted to its welfare and success, he feared and deprecated the political effect of the comprehensive and important revenue changes proposed. These are explanations which enable us better to understand his position and judge his motives when he cast a remarkable vote in this House in July, 1888. It was a time of transition and change in public opinion—a change in the opinion of many still in progress—with what result the future will determine. Whether Mr. Randall, if he had lived, would have adoanced with the so called Reform movement, or would have continued to stand upon the compromise ground indicated by his Bill of 1888, must be a matter of opinion or conjecture; but with those who knew his devotion to his party and his deep-seated conviction that the success of that party was essential to the public welfare, the former opinion may prevail.

His re-election to the present Congress was a most generous and significant endorsement of his public career,—given by men most of whom did not agree with him in opinion upon the most conspicious measure of the preceding session. They felt pride in his reputation; they knew that his service had been greatly useful to his country, and that his ability and his character as their representative did them infinite honor.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

The evil effects of the new tariff law are already being felt by the poor man. Tin-plate has gone up; and when you pay the increased price for tin utensils please remember that it is because of the "protection" given to the English owners of Dakota's undeveloped tin mines by the new tariff law, forced through Congress by the republican bosses, that you do so.

"Tis well that Quay, Dudley, Clarkson & Co's scheme of colonizing enough negroes in the State of Indiana, West Virginia and Connecticut to make them certain to cast their electoral votes for the republican nominees in 1892 has been exposed. Of course the exposure excites no surprise, it is in keeping with other schemes by which the republican party has controlled this country for years, and it is by similar schemes and the corrupt use of money that it expects to retain its grasp upon the House of Representatives at the election next month.

If Mr. Wanamaker had devoted half the time to getting one cent letter postage, which would be a general blessing, that he has wasted in working for his postal-telegraph idea, which would benefit only a limited class, perhaps Congress might have been induced to stop legislating for the republican party long enough to have enacted a penny postage law.

An increase from forty-five to sixty percent is the republican idea of tariff reduction. What have the people to say of this injustice to their interests?

The following scorching arraignment of Senator Quay is not of democratic origin as one might suppose, but is an extract from an address to the President from the Lincoln Independent Republican League, of Philadelphia: "In the interest of sound public morals and of primitive Republican faith we ask the political downfall of a man whose public record dishonors himself, his party, and his State. There is but one alternative, either Mr. Quay must be shorn of political power or the Republican party must lose its high name as the party of progress and the representative of great moralities, it must accept the ignoble title of the party of immoralities, whose claim to power is no longer right but might, and whose appeal is now, as in the days of Lincoln, addressed through lofty and legitimate argument to the reason of the people, to their sense of justice and of truth; it will then become a party whose youthful aspirations is sunk in hopeless corruption and whose purse-strings have strangled its patriotism. To avert such a catastrophe we appeal to you as the chief Magistrate of the nation to aid us in this struggle by withdrawing from Mr. Quay the patronage of Pennsylvania the responsibility for which has been placed by the Constitution in your hands."

The Republican tax on the workman's tin dinner pail, and on the binding-twine which the farmer is compelled to use in cutting his crop ready for market, are features of the new tariff law which republican orators would gladly ignore until after the election.

Senator Blaine's audacity in refusing to send to Congress the State department corres pondence, relating to the killing of Gen. Barrundia by Guatemalian soldiers, on an American vessel is unprecedented, and it will be strange if Congress does not resent it this winter. There have been several cases in the past in which Presidents have declined to send to Congress correspondence asked for by resolution of that body, but, they always accompanied the declination with a courteous message explaining that it would be injudicious to make such information public. But in this case neither Mr. Harrison nor Mr. Blaine took the trouble to explain why they had ignored a resolution of Congress. A few more republican administrations and truly the Empire will have come.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

Sirs:—Last Summer I cured a Curb upon my horse with your celebrated Kendall's Spavin Cure and it was the best job I ever saw done. I have a dozen empty bottles, having used it with perfect success, curing every thing I tried it on. My neighbor had a horse with a very bad Spavin that made him lame. He asked me how to cure it. I recommended Kendall's Spavin Cure. He cured the Spavin in just three weeks.

Yours respectfully, WOLCOTT WITTER.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 4, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Dear Sirs:—I have been selling more of Kendall's Spavin Cure and Flint's Condition Powders than ever before. One man said to me, it was the best Powder I ever kept and the best he ever used.

Respectfully, OTTO L. HOFFMAN.

CHATTANOOGA, N. Y., May 13, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Dear Sirs:—I have used several bottles of your Kendall's Spavin Cure with perfect success, on a valuable and blooded mare that was quite lame with a Bone Spavin. The mare is now entirely free from lameness and shows no touch on the joint.

Respectfully, F. H. HUTCHINS.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., MONROE, La., May 8, '90.

Gents:—I think it my duty to render you my thanks for your far famed Kendall's Spavin Cure. I had a four year old filly which I prized very highly. She had a very severe swollen leg. I tried about eight different kinds of medicines which did no good. I purchased a bottle of your Kendall's Spavin Cure which cured her in four days.

I remain yours, MARION DOWDEN.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

The undersigned, surviving executor of the last will and testament of Ezekiel Cole, late of Sugarloaf township, in Columbia county, Penna., now offers at private sale a large body of the most desirable real estate to be found in the township.

It consists of a tract of land lying upon both sides of the Fishingcreek, and comprising in the whole about 280 Acres.

That portion of it which is upon the west side of the creek has the following improvements and advantages, to-wit. A large frame formerly kept as a hotel, a frame Building erected for and occupied as a country store, a large frame building erected and occupied as a tenant house, and also outbuildings, Saw mill, &c. It is well wooded and has a considerable quantity of excellent fruit. It is accessible by two public roads and a county bridge, and also by the Bloomsburg & Sullivan railroad, and it contains about 111 Acres.

The remainder of the tract lying upon the east side of the creek, is also accessible by two public roads and a county bridge across Fishingcreek to the railroad. The improvements are a large barn &c., the whole tract having been occupied as the homestead farm. This piece contains about 170 Acres.

It will be sold together or in parcels as may be deemed most expedient. The sale will be by the acre. A draft of the land with the improvements roads, &c., can be seen in the hands of the executor at the banking house of the Bloomsburg Banking Company, where also inquirers may learn terms of sale, &c.

A REAL LUXURY!

Looking out over the many homes of this country, we see thousands of women wearing away their lives in household drudgery that might be materially lessened by the use of a few cakes of SAPOLIO. If an hour is saved each time a cake is used, if one less wrinkle gathers upon the face because the toil is lightened, she must be a foolish woman who would hesitate to make the experiment, and he a churlish husband who would grudge the few cents which it costs.

If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables, and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans, and metals it has no equal. Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

☞ Grocers often substitute cheaper goods for SAPOLIO to make a better profit. Send back such articles and insist on having just what you ordered.

A Present to Our Subscribers.

It is with pleasure that we announce to our many patrons that we have made arrangements with that wide-awake, illustrated farm magazine, the AMERICAN FARMER, published at Fort Wayne, Ind., and read by nearly 300,000 farmers by which that great publication will be mailed FREE, to the address of any of our subscribers WHO WILL COME IN AND PAY UP ALL ARREARAGES ON SUBSCRIPTION AND ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE FROM DATE, AND TO ANY NEW SUBSCRIBER WHO WILL PAY ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE. This is a grand opportunity to obtain a first-class farm journal free. The AMERICAN FARMER is a large 16-page journal, of national circulation, which ranks among the leading agricultural papers. It treats the question of economy in agriculture and the rights and privileges of that vast body of citizens—American Farmers—whose industry is the basis of all material and national prosperity. Its highest purpose is the elevation and ennobling of Agriculture through the higher and broader education of men and women engaged in its pursuits. The regular subscription price of the AMERICAN FARMER is $1.00 per year. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING. From any one number ideas can be obtained that will be worth thrice the subscription price to you or members of your household, YET YOU GET IT FREE. Call and see sample copy. tf.

L. & W. depot at 12.18 on Friday to give the party a rousing reception.

There is not, and ought not to be, any political complexion to the present controversy between the Gas and Water Companies, and the Town Council, but it is said that certain republicans are putting whatever blame there is, on the Democratic members of the council. In view of the fact that two republican members of the council are at the head and front of the movement to get gas and water at their own prices, which has resulted in depriving the town of both, this is unjust. The same two republicans did not hesitate to vote for the erection of a $15,000 Town Hall at a point where its erection enhanced the value of their own properties.

A Charming Party.

One of the most brilliant social events that has occurred in Bloomsburg for a long, time was the party given by Misses Annie, Carrie and Louise Jameson at the Exchange Hotel last Friday evening. At 9 o'clock the invited guests to the number of one hundred or more, gathered in the parlors, and were received by the Misses Jameson and their friends Mrs. Montgomery of Lambertville, N. J., Miss Coughlin of Burlington, N. J. and Miss Gilbert of Catawissa, Col. and Mrs. Jameson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hunt. The ladies were all in full evening dress and the great number of elegant costumes was a subject of frequent remark. It would be difficult to gather a company of the same size anywhere, in city or country, where more pretty girls, or handsomer dresses could be found. The gentlemen were in full dress, with but few exceptions.

At 10 o'clock the dining room was thrown open and dancing began, to the entrancing strains of music by Bauer's orchestra of Scranton. This was continued until after 4 o'clock in the morning, with the exception of about an hour while refreshments were being served

Small tables were placed in the dining room, and the refreshments were elegant and nicely served. Altogether it was a charming party and everybody enjoyed it to the fullest extent.

The Exchange Hotel is noted for the brilliant parties that have been under its hospitable roof, and this one was fully as delightful as any that has ever been held there. Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs know how to arrange such an affair to perfection.

Among those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of Lambertville, N. J., Miss Coughlin of Berlington, N. J., Miss Gilbert, Catawissa, Miss Kelly, Brooklyn, Miss Kendig, Lancaster, Mr. Meigs, Lebanon, Mr. Thomas, Milford, N. J., Dr. Jennings, Danville, Mr. C. Stiltz, Williamsport, Mr. Frank Patterson, Easton, Mr. S. Wigfall, Mr. Hartel, Philadelphia, Dr. J. W. Reifsnyder, Milton.

Phillips' Cafe Opening.

The opening of Phillips' Cafe is a new departure for Bloomsburg. There has never been a restaurant in the town where ladies could go unattended and get a lunch or a dinner, or anything else cooked to order from a bill of fare. The Phillips Cafe is handsomely furnished, with Brussels carpet, chenille curtains, oak sideboards, chairs and tables, and the dishes, glassware, silverware and linen are all new and bright. Everything is cleanly and attractive. The kitchen is in charge of Mr. Sheppard, an experienced chef who has filled the position of chief cook at the Lafayette, Cape May, and other prominent hotels. The cafe was opened to the public on Saturday night. Tempting viands filled the front window, and the tables with their clean linen and bright silver were exceedingly attractive. The Bloom Band appeared in front of the cafe at 9 o'clock and discoursed some excellent music, and were invited in by Mrs. Phillips, and served with a supper consisting of salad, oysters, cold ham, ice cream and cake. Many people of the town including a number of ladies, were among the customers of the evening, and all expressed themselves as much pleased. On each table was a neatly printed bill of fare, showing what can be ordered to appease the appetite. It included oysters in every style, fish of different varieties, meats of all kinds, cooked to order, or cold, game in season, eggs in every shape, salads, pickles, potatoes, rolls, cakes, pies, coffee, tea, ice cream, &c.

The need of such a place has long been felt in this town, and realizing this fact, Mrs. Phillips, with her well-known business energy, has endeavored to supply the want. She deserves encouragement, for such a place cannot be maintained without patronage. The baking and confectionery will not be neglected, but the whole establishment will be conducted as heretofore.

A Shooting Affray.

On Monday morning the 7.26 train on the D. L. & W. railroad brought a company of showmen here, known as the "Congo Show," to exhibit at the fair. Two of them, a white man named Harry D. Miller, and a black man named Frank Bereppo, got into an altercation in the men's waiting room in the depot, having quarrelled on the cars, and after a scuffle in which Miller had his finger bitten, and Bereppo had his head cut, Miller drew a revolver and fired two shots into the floor, after telling Bereppo that unless he kept away he would shoot him, and showed his pistol. Nathan Chromis, a policeman, was called on by Bereppo, and arrested Miller for assault with a pistol, and the prisoner was taken before Guy Jacoby Esq. Several members of the party swore that the colored man had a bad disposition, and was the aggressor in the case, that the two had been quarreling for some time; that Miller got the pistol out of a trunk after being told of Bereppo's threats to kill him. After hearing a good deal of talk, the justice discharged the prisoner, but said that if it was in his power he would fine both of them for fighting; that it was evidently a case that should go before the President of Council. The whole party went out together. Bereppo is known as a Congo warrior, and has his head all shaved except a tuft on top. The "Congo Warrior" is evidently a Baltimore darkey.

Bloomsburg 'Star Course.'

The first entertainment of the 'Star Course' will take place on next Monday evening, October, 20th, in the Opera House Bloomsburg, and will consist of a concert by the celebrated N. Y. Philharmonic Club, which consists of a sextette of musicians who stand in the front ranks as soloists. The leading artists: Richard Arnold, violinist, Eugene Weiner, flutist, and Charles Hemmann, violin-celloist are well known to all lovers of good music and have an international reputation. The program for the evening contains a number of novelties composed expressly for them by distinguished musicians, and selections from Bazinni, Schuman, Beethoven, Schubert, Handel, Popper, Gillet and Liszt, among which are Handel's celebrated 'Largo,' Liszt's 'Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 12,' E. Gillet's 'Sounds of the Ball Room.'

The management have been at great expense and trouble to secure this club, which is not often obtainable for small towns, and it is an opportunity to hear good music that many may not again be able to avail themselves of. It is to be hoped that the musical public will show their appreciation of these efforts by a full house on Monday evening. The Club comes with the understanding that the local musical taste is exceptionally good and they will no doubt please all who may attend. The desirable seats are being rapidly taken and those desiring course tickets should apply early to Mr. Dentler.

Mr. Arnold's wonderful playing on the violin took the audience by storm, and he was repeatedly recalled.—The Sun, Baltimore.

The renowned flute virtuoso, Mr. Eugene Weiner, also performed at the last Imperial Soiree, and his unsurpassed playing evoked the highest approbation.—Le Siecle, Paris.

Will give three hundred dollars reward and railroad pass to party who wrote letter from Wilkes-Barre on October 12th last. Please communicate with me, there will be no harm come to you. Address as before C. MILLER.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

On Saturday last the students took their usual chestnut hunt. They started about 12.30 p. m. and returned about 6 p. m. They spent the time across the river and along the river banks, and had a good time boating, boiling chestnuts and roaming through the woods. All pronounced it a very enjoyable occasion, and thanked the Calliepian society for the big bushel of chestnuts they took along.

Students are daily growing more interested in the coming lecture course. The Principal has received the personal thanks of many patrons of the school for affording their children an opportunity at such marvelously low rates to hear the best talent on the American platform.

Miss Olaf Krarer lectured 130 times in Philadelphia in one season, and it was only by chance that she was secured for the Normal course, Oct. 27th being the only date in the entire season when she was not engaged.

Arrangements have just been made to have her give a matinee on Monday afternoon of the 27th, for the children of the town. This was done at considerable additional expense, and a small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to help defray the expense.

While much interest is manifested in Miss Krarer, she is by no means the best in the course. Horr and Blaikie will please everybody. Their lectures are very witty, but it is the kind of wit that instructs and emphasizes.

The Park sisters, cornetists, with Miss Merrymon, the reader, will perhaps be the best musical treat of the season. Miss Annie Park is pronounced by some the equal of Levy. The last lecturer of the course, Peter von Finklestein Mamreov, made a successful tour in Europe, and has the highest testimonials from English newspapers. He lectured in Reading, Pa. recently before the teachers' institute, and was so well liked that he was engaged on the spot to deliver the same lecture next year to the same audience.

Bloomsburg has never before had a chance to hear five such entertainments for the small sum of $1.50; and may never have such a chance again.

Mrs. L. Black of Wilkes-Barre, is visiting her daughter May, a student at the Normal School.

Mr. Penniman, of Pittston, visited his daughter Mabel last week.

Two gentlemen from Reading who were in town last week on business, strolled up to the Normal school, and expressed themselves as greatly pleased and surprised at the equipment of the school, the beauty of the grounds, and the magnificent views afforded by the elevation. "All this for $4.50 per week?" said one, "Yes" answered the Principal, "only $4 per week to teachers."

The little Russian girl, Eva Robinovitch, is making rapid progress, and is very popular among the students.

Catalogues have been in demand from Maine to California. The demand for catalogues has been so great that the supply will soon be exhausted. One teacher said 'what will we do with them if they all come?' The trustees will have to answer.

Manual training continues to be popular. The exercises in sawing, planing, nailing, chiseling, &c., are not only very interesting, but give the very best opportunity to teach some of the principles of natural philosophy. To the model-school pupils, this manual training experience is alone worth more than the tuition they pay.

At 11:05 the newly married pair took the train on the Reading railroad for Norristown, where the husband is engaged as a civil engineer.

Con-go has come and with him he has brought his funny face. The most comical of all freaks of nature, not one to pity, but one to laugh at and he laughs with you. You must see him or you cannot comprehend him. He has four legs and a body like an animal, but he has a head the same as a human being. He was discovered in the central part of Africa, near the river Congo. He is the African freak that caused so much sensation in New York city, where he was on exhibition for three months and seen by one million people last week at York, Pa., he was the principal feature of the fair. He is well worth seeing. He will be on exhibition at the "Congo Show" on the Fair Grounds this week. Don't fail to see him.

Funeral Postponed.

AN ATTEMPT TO CLIMB THE GOLDEN STAIRS VIA THE LAUDANUM ROUTE FRUSTRATED.

A romance that came near ending the life of a bright and jolly lass of about twenty summers was wafted over the hills from Centralia on Monday. It was on the afternoon of Saturday, October 4th, that suicide was attempted on account of unrequited affections. The gentleman in the case was Alex Buchanan, who until recently resided at Centralia, but who is now employed in Philadelphia. His departure from our neighboring town was a source of great regret to many persons and one in particular, at least so 'tis said by knowing ones.

Miss Hattie Heist, whose father is a prominent citizen and mine contractor of Centralia, is a pleasant and sprightly young lady who has many admirers, but grieved because her friend Buchanan was not more devoted. To the outside world, however, she always appeared in the best of spirits and perfectly content with the ways of the world. Such did not appear to be the case, as the narrative of this article proves. On Saturday afternoon Miss Heist took an ounce and a half of laudanum and for a time it was feared that fatal results would follow. Dr. Lashelle was summoned and with the aid of a stomach pump expelled the deadly poison from the young lady's system.

Before attempting to take her life Miss Heist wrote several letters to friends in which she gave the cause for her rash act and bid them adieu. To one young lady she turned over her Sunday school class, with the request that the scholars receive the proper training and that they also be taught the same truths that she had endeavored to instill into their minds. To a gentleman friend the sad tidings was conveyed that before he received the note that she would be a corpse, as she did not desire to continue her existence upon this earth. The Patriotic Order of True Americans, of which Miss Heist was a member, had arranged to produce a home talent drama in the near future in which she was to take part, and in a note to that society she dwelt at some length upon her inability to render any assistance as she was about to leave them forever, and regretted that she could not participate in the coming exercises and take a fitting part. To another she announced as her last request that her remains be interred in the cemetery on the hill on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the following pall bearers she chose from among her gentlemen friends: Matthew Farrell, Thos. Reese, Geo. Davis, Robert White, Edward Shaeffer and William Richards.

Miss Heist has entirely recovered from the effects of her attempted suicide and instead of her funeral taking place on Sunday, she attended Sabbath school in the afternoon. She, however, declares that she will end her life at some future time.—Ashland Advocate.

BUSINESS MEN'S JUBILEE.

The Business Men's Jubilee given Tuesday evening, October 14, under direction of the young ladies of the Lutheran church and ably assisted by young ladies of other churches, was a decided success. One hundred and fifty young ladies took part, each representing some business house of Bloomsburg. About 900 people witnessed the entertainment and by the frequent applause, they were evidently pleased. The executive committee and especially the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Grant Herring, deserves much credit for the success. A great portion of the play was arranged by the committee to adapt the varied industries and trades of this town, and a large portion of those who took part had but little experience on the stage. Everything from the beginning to the close went to perfection, while the grand march in which 150 ladies marched and countermarched upon the stage, dressed in their varied costumes, was a fitting finale for this most successful entertainment. It was announced that on account of numerous requests it would be repeated on Saturday evening, but because of the busy week with the county fair, which will bring additional work the executive committee has decided not to repeat it.

We received a pleasant call yesterday from our old friend Dr. L. A. Shattuck. The doctor left this city in 1882 to take charge of a sanitarium at Bloomsburg, Pa. Ill health has since compelled him to relinquish his duties there and he is now engaged in introducing the Shattuck fountain pen which he was experimenting upon before he left this city, and for which several patents have been granted him. He has received an abundance of evidence to prove his invention of the upper feed with independent air vent at a date prior to any other similarly constructed pen, and is preparing to bring suits against infringers of his patents. The Shattuck pen is certainly the best we have ever seen and we wish the doctor the success he deserves.—Bridgeport Morning News, Sept. 30, 1890.

THE FAIR.

The indications point to one of the greatest exhibitions in the history of this, the best of all the fairs. The large exhibition building is packed with exhibits, while the stock sheds have every stall engaged. The grounds are filled with exhibits and stands, but not a gambling place to be found. With the present indications of fair weather the grounds should be thronged with people Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The following is a list of the races:

Pensions! Veterans!!

The Disability Pension Bill.

Act of June 27, 1890, grants pensions to all ex-soldiers and sailors who served 90 days or more in the Army or Navy during the rebellion, and were honorably discharged, and who are now suffering from any permanent, mental or physical disability contracted since the war or during the war whether from disease, injuries or effects of old age, at the rate of from $6 to $12 per month, according to the deg ee of his disability for the performance of labor requiring the exertion of physical strength; provided the disability is not due to vicious habits. The pension is not restricted to the veterans who have to make their living by hard labor, but is equally due to professional men or clerks, provided they have an existing disability which would prevent the continuous exercise of the physical strength of an able-bodied man.

Those who have applied under the general laws and who are unable to prove up the pending claim can apply for and secure this pension and then continue the prosecution of the former claim and secure their arrears.

If you are now drawing a small pension, say $2 or $4 per month, you can take this pension instead, and if you have an application on file for increase or additional pension for new disabilities you can continue the prosecution of such claims while drawing the new pension, or you can file an original claim for a disability contracted in the service while drawing pension under this new act.

Widows, children, and dependent mothers and fathers are entitled under this act and can suspend the prosecution of any pending claim, and take this pension, and afterwards complete the prior claim and get arrears.

Having been duly appointed an Agent according to the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior in the prosecution of such claims and having had success in a number of cases I am always prepared to give information and assist claimants, and will assure them success if they are able to establish the facts as required by law.

Those interested should call soon and claim their reward.

Cutting Off The Lottery.

Assistant attorney General Tyner, under the direction of Postmaster General Wanamaker, has prepared a circular letter to postmasters containing instructions for their guidance in treatment of "lottery" matter under the recent anti-lottery act. After quoting the law in full the circular reads as follows."

1. Section 3894, above quoted, applies to any letter, ordinary or registered, if it concerns any lottery, gift concern, or scheme described in the section, and to lottery tickets, checks, drafts, bills, money, postal notes, or money orders for the purchase of lottery tickets, of any share or chance in a lottery or gift enterprise, and to the list of the drawings at any lottery or similar scheme, and forbids the carrying of them in the mails or the delivery of them from post offices.

LETTER SEALS MUST NOT BE BROKEN.

2. The seal of a letter, or of any sealed packet prepaid at letter rates, must not be disturbed for the purpose of ascertaining if its transmission in the mail or its delivery at a post office is forbidden by the provisions of this act. Nor will the mere suspicion that such letter or packet relates to a lottery, or the fact that it is addressed to any person known to be engaged in the business of conducting a lottery, justify its detention or non-delivery of registered letters at the office of destination shall be withheld when the Postmaster General has issued specific orders, under the provisions of Section 3929, to that effect.

3. Postal cards and circulars unsealed and all other unsealed matter may when suspected of having been deposited or mailed in violation of the provisions of this act, be examined for the purpose of ascertaining their character.

4. The mailing of matter interdicted by this act by citizens to lottery companies and their representatives is as clear a violation of the law as the mailing of such matter by lottery companies to their customers or other persons.

DUTIES OF POSTMASTERS

5. When it is known at the time of depositing them for mailing that postal cards or circulars are unmailable under the provisions of Section 3894, above quoted, the postmaster should decline to receive them. If they be found in a post office and the sender is unknown to the postmaster, or if they be discovered in the mail in transit, they should be withdrawn and marked or stamped "fraudulent" and sent to the Postmaster General, accompanied by a special report from the postmaster explaining the reason for their detention.

6. The provisions of this act apply to letters, postal cards, and circulars concerning lotteries or similar schemes that come in the mail from foreign countries, and such matter so received should be treated as if it originated in the United States.

7. Matter sent in violation of the provisions of Section 3894, discovered by postmasters at intermediate offices, should be withdrawn from the mail and disposed of in the same manner as if it had been discovered by the postmaster at the office of mailing or the office of delivery. But postmasters at intermediate offices should not delay the transmission of other mail in making special search for anything declared by this act to be unmailable.

THE LAW AS REGARDS NEWSPAPERS.

8. Newspapers, pamphlets, and publications of all kinds, bearing date before or since the 19th day of September, 1890 (at which date the act took effect), which contain the advertisement of any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, or the whole or part of the list of prizes awarded at the drawings of lotteries or similiar schemes, are, by the provisions of this act, denied carriage in the mails or delivery to subscribers, addresses, or to any other persons, or as "sample copies." Postmasters should refuse to receive them for publishers or to deliver them if by inadvernce they reach the office of destination. When found by postmasters in the mail in transit they should be held until a report concerning them can be made to the Postmaster General and instructions received from him as to the disposing of them.

9. Foreign newspapers, pamphlets and publications of all kinds, containing printed matter forbidden by the provisions of this act, should be treated as if they were published in the United States.

10. Clerks in the Railway Mail Service discovering matter the carriage of which is forbidden by the provisions of this act, should withdraw it and forward it to their respective division superintendents. Division superintendents should treat such matter in the same manner as postmasters are herein instructed to treat it.

11. The term "lottery," as used in this act, embraces all kinds of schemes, general or local, for the distribution of prizes by lot or chance, such as gift exhibitions, enterprises, concerts, raffles or the drawing of prizes in money or property at fairs. Hence, letters, postal cards, and circulars concerning them, and newspapers, pamphlets, and other publications containing advertisements of them, are unmailable.

12. The provisions of Section 3929, relating to registered letters and of Section 4041, relating to money orders (both of which sections are set out in full in the preceding copy of the act), apply to such matter at offices of delivery only, and are to be enforced upon the direct orders of the Postmaster General.

13. Postmasters and other postal officials and employees are expected to be diligent in carrying out the forgoing instructions for the enforcement of the provisions of this act.

"On All-Hallows Eve," says William Black, "there is one form of incantation which is known to be extremely nay, terribly potent, when all others have failed. You go out by your self, taking a handful of hemp-seed with you. You get to a secluded place, and bgein to scatter the seed as you walk along the road. You say, 'Hemp-seed, I sow thee; hemp-seed, I sow thee.' he who is to be my true love, appear now and show thee.' And if you look furtively over your shoulder you will behold the desired apparition following you." Mr. Black will contribute to Harper's Magazine for November a story, entitled "A Halloween Wrath, which is based upon the supposed occult influences that are abroad at this time. Several illustrations from drawing by W. Small will add to the interest of the story.

READY FOR SUICIDE.

HE DIDN'T MIND DYING, BUT COULDN'T STAND A BROKEN NOSE.

About 10 o'clock the other night a watchman at the foot of Griswold street saw a man acting so queerly that he approached and demanded what he was doing there.

"Going to jump into the river," was the reply.

"When!"

"Right off."

"Not here!"

"Yes, right here,"

"What for!"

"Nothing to live for."

"See here," said the watchman, as the man peeled off his coat, "I wish you would do me a favor. I never hit a man a good hard punch in my life. If you are bound to go in I wish you would stand with your heels on the edge of the wharf and let me swing my right on your nose."

"Not if I know myself I won't,"

"But why? You might as well be found drowned with a broken nose as a whole one."

"I allow no one to punch my nose if I can help it."

"Well, you are a mighty particular man."

"And you are a mighty mean one."

"Don't sass me!"

"And don't you rub against me!"

And after holding himself ready for a row for a couple of minutes the stranger put on his coat and sauntered off, saying that the man who touched his nose had better tackle a six-foot buzz saw.—Detroit Free Press.

Lincoln's Melancholy.

HIS SYMPATHETIC NATURE AND HIS EARLY MISFORTUNES.

Those who saw much of Abraham Lincoln during the later years of his life, were greatly impressed with the expression of profound melancholy his face always wore in repose.

Mr. Lincoln was of a peculiarly sympathetic and kindly nature. These strong characteristics influenced, very happily, as it proved, his entire political career. They would not seem, at first glance, to be efficient aids to political success; but in the peculiar emergency which Lincoln, in the providence of God, was called to meet, no vessel of common clay could possibly have become the "chosen of the Lord"

Those acquainted with him from boyhood knew that early griefs tinged his whole life with sadness. His partner in the grocery busines at Salem was "Uncle" Billy Green, of Tallula, Ill., who used at night, when the customers were few, to hold the grammar while Lincoln recited his lesson.

It was his sympathetic ear Lincoln told the story of his love for sweet Ann Rutlidge; and he, in return, offered what comfort he could when poo Ann died, and Lincoln's great heart nearly broke.

"After Ann died," says "Uncle" Billy "on stormy nights, when the wind blew the rain against the roof, Abe would sit thar in the grocery, his elbows on his knees, his face in his hands, and the tears runin' through his fingers. I hated to see him feel bad, and I'd say, 'Abe don't cry'; an' he'd look up an' say 'I can't help it, Bill, the rain's fallin on her.'"

There are many who can sympathize with this overpowering grief, as they think of a lost loved one, when "the rain's a fallin' on her," What adds poignancy to the grief some times is the thought that the lost one might have been saved.

Fortunate indeed, is William Johnson, of Corona, L. I., a builder, who writes June 28, 1890: "Last February on returning from church one night, my daughter complained of having a pain in her ankle. The pain gradually extended until her entire limb was swollen and very painful to the touch. We called a physicion, who after careful examination, pronounced it disease of the kidneys of long standing. All we could do, did not seem to benefit her until we tried Warner's Safe Cure; from the first she commenced to improve. When she commenced taking it she could not turn over in bed, and could just move her hands a little, but to-day she is as well as she ever was. I believe I owe the recovery of my daughter to its use."

Good Advice.

Several years ago I was covered with Boils to such an extent that my life was a misery. After trying a number of other remedies without any benefit, I was advised by a wholesale drugg'st at Columbus to try S. S. S. (Swift's Specific). One bottle of S. S. S. cured me entirely. I have not had a Boil since. To those afflicted with Boils or Skin Eruptions I give the same advice my wholesale druggist gave me—take S. S. S.

A PROMPT CURE.

I was cured sound and well of a case of Blood Poison by S. S. S. As soon as I discovered I was afflicted with the disease I commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and in a few weeks I was permanently cured.

The United States furnished last year over 200,000,000 envelopes to private business houses on which printing was done free. The printers of the country ought to have done this work, realizing from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 from it. How long will the fraternity allow such a wrong to continue? Would any other line of trade remain quiescent under such competition? And why should the government do a general printing business any more than a dry goods or grocery business.—Press and Printer

Happiness Not Dependent Upon Wealth.

There are rich women whose lives would have been happier in all probability had they been poor; they have energy, capacity, industry, and could have supported themselves honestly and usefully; but now those faculties are all absorbed in the effort to be just stewards of what is given them. They spend sparingly on themselves and munificently on others; but the lavishness costs harder work than the economy. They consume days in the care of institutions or the guidance of individuals; they never take a holiday; they lie awake at night wondering if they have done rightly in paying the fine and costs of John Jones, and giving him his tenth opportunity to keep out of jail and beat his children; or whether the world is to be benefited, on the whole, by the Combined Institutions for Supplying Pennies to the Penniless. While they seem to be only "in the swim" of society, and are possibly regarded as types of fashion's butterflies, they are in reality working harder than any business man, and are unable to lay aside their cares, as he often does, on closing the doors of the counting-room. The poor think of all the beautiful tastes which they cannot gratifiy, but which they could freely carry out were they only rich. But the rich meanwhile are sometimes envying the poor, who have none of the cares of stewardship, and can spend their spare hours, when earned, as they please. I once went with a young girl who had been economically enjoying a summer's outing on the sea-shore to call upon a woman more generally envied, perhaps, than any one in her own familiar circle. She had wealth, beauty, immense personal popularity, conscientious activity in a hundred ways, and a touch of genius in art. "What have you been doing this vacation?" she said to her young visitor. "Sketching," was the answer. "Happy girl!" said her hostess. "I have been only able to get one morning's sketching this season."—T. W. HIGGINSON, in Harper's Bazar.

The Golden Gate Tours of the Pennsylvania Railway.

Preparations for the inaugural series of personally conducted tours to the Pacific Coast, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad, are progressing, and a detailed outline of their scope, routes, rates, and conditions will be published at an early day. In the meantime sufficient headway has been made to indicate that the tours will surpass any similar pleasure trips heretofore enjoyed by the people of the Eastern States. The special trains of Pullman Vestibule, Sleeping, and Dining Cars will exemplify the latest and best work of the Pullman shops. They will run through to California on quick time, delivering their passengers at desirable points in the Golden State and picking them up at the appointed rendezvous for the return trip. Tourist Agents and Chaperons of wide experience will conduct the party and minister to their comfort in every possible way. Peculiarly favorable concessions will be granted them by the railroads of the Pacific Slope, so that their movements may be productive of the fullest pleasure at the lowest cost.

These tours are the most ambitious attempts yet projected by the Pennsylvania personally-escorted system to provide pleasure tours of the highest grade, and the traveling public may depend upon securing in them the most perfect service.

The first tour will leave the East late in January. It will be limited to one hundred persons, and those who anticipate an early spring outing to the shores of the Pacific should place themselves in correspondence at once with Mr. J. R. Wood, General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia.

President Portorio Diaz, of Mexico, is a portly, bark skined, Indian eyed man, with closely clipped blue-black hair and a drooping mustache. His years are nine and fifty, and he is serving his third term as president. Yet you never see him without a smile on his face. He is iron willed, and when the grant to the American railroad in Mexico was withheld by the parliament or Congress Diaz was out taking a ride. He come up into congress and addressed them, saying:

"Signors, you will either pass this bill or go straight home."

They looked a minute, and raised the cry of "Long live the president!" and passed the bill.—Frank Leslie's.

The Purest and Best.

Articles known to medical science are used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every ingredient is carefully selected personally examined, and only the best retained. "If I wear my diamond earings much longer when I go shopping I shall be ruined," said a careful little wife to her lord.

"How so?" he asked.

"Why," said she, "when I go to the butcher's he always looks at my ears before he says how much the meat will cost, and if he sees the diamonds he sticks on the extra ten or twenty cents, I know. Thinks he ought to get a dividend on the diamonds, I suppose."—Pittsburg dispatch
